A MESSAGE from the Governor to the Aſſembly.

Gentlemen,

THE many advantages we derive from the uſe of paper money, ought to make us extremely careful to avoid every ſtep that may poſſibly endanger it.

I am well aſſured the diſlike raiſed in Britain of the bills of credit in the plantations, by the late too general and undiſtinguiſhing complaints, ſtill ſo warmly ſubſiſts, as to make any application to the crown, about our currency, at this time very unſeaſonable.

With a view therefore, that no ſhare of your time may be ſpent unprofitably, I think myſelf obliged to declare to you, thus early (though with a good deal of concern for our difference in opinion) that I cannot, at preſent, give my aſſent to any bill for re-emitting the current money of the province, or for iſſuing any additional ſum.

January 26, 1753. JAMES HAMILTON.

A MESSAGE to the Governor from the Aſſembly.

May it pleaſe the Governor,

WE are well pleaſed to find by the governor's meſſage of yeſterday, that he concurs with us in that important point, a ſenſe of the many advantages we derive from the uſe of our paper money: We would therefore be equally careful with the governor to avoid every ſtep that may poſſibly endanger it. But as we do not think that the diſlike raiſed in Britain, of the bills of credit in the plantations, was ſo general and undiſtinguiſhing, or ſtill ſo warmly ſubſiſts, as the governor ſeems to apprehend; ſo we do not conceive that an application to the crown, about our currency, would, at this time, be unſeaſonable.

We are equally concerned with the governor, for our difference in opinion; and that in an affair of ſuch importance, we may not ſeem to act too precipitately, we are willing to take the governor's objection into conſideration 'till our next meeting, and propoſe to make a ſhort adjournment for this purpoſe January 27, 1753.

CHARLES-TOWN, March 12.

Laſt Monday Evening, the General Aſſembly of this Province, after having paſſed a very ſalutary Ordinance, adjourned to Tueſday the 27th Inſtant.

Almoſt all the paſt Week, we have had very ſtormy Weather, with S.W. Winds: And on Saturday Night, in a hard Gale, the Conſtantia, Capt. Andrew, and the Greyhound, Capt. Corlett, were driven foul of each other, in Rebellion-Road, with ſuch Violence, that the Fluke of each Veſſel's Anchor went thro' the other's Side, ſo that they were obliged to run the Conſtantia aſhore, to prevent her ſinking, and to ſail the Greyhound up to Town again.
